

Walker Cemetery on Hog Branch

GPS 30° 10' 28"N - 96° 22' 24"W

Located about a mile Northeast of Brenham - at end of Brooks Lane across Hog Branch (creek)

James Francis Walker, Sr., and his wife Catherine (Miller) Walker arrived in Texas in 1824 as part of Stephen F. Austin's "Old Three Hundred". On July 21, 1824, the Mexican Government granted James Walker a league of land which was located in Washington County east of the current City of Brenham. In January 1836, when Walker's health was failing, he divided his league of land between six of his children, one of which was Lucinda and her husband Cary D. Gary. The Carys sold 131 acres of this land to John Dupuy in 1839, who then sold the 131 acres to H. C. McIntyre in 1840. Stories handed down through the generations state that Walker Cemetery began in the mid-1840s. It is believed that run-away or free slaves set up housekeeping in the woods near Hog Branch, and went into Brenham for day work. They would live in make-shift houses, and had church under Brush Arbors. The soldiers set their camp in that area to protect the free slaves after the Civil War. The first deed found was dated May 1, 1895, when H. C. McIntyre sold 9.59 acres out of the 131 acres to Stonewall Jackson and Jeff Edwards. This is the property that is Walker Cemetery. The first documented burial was that of Silvia Marie Jones, b. 1857, d. Mar 16, 1900. The Walker Cemetery has been known throughout the years by various names: East Alamo Cemetery, New Cemetery, East End Cemetery, Hog Branch Cemetery, Potter's Field, and the County Pauper's Field. The last known burial was that of Elliott Carmichael Johnson on June 7, 1982.

Notes:

- In researching the burials with stones, we found many different names for this cemetery used on the death certificates. Thus, using a list of death certificates sorted under cemetery names, we were able to add other burials to what we now call Walker Cemetery.
- Some of the death certificates for burials in this cemetery simply stated that they were buried in Brenham or Brenham Cemetery. We, however, did not add others which had Brenham or Brenham Cemetery listed on the death certificate because there are other cemeteries in Brenham where the burials could have occurred. At a later date, we will be having a listing for those burials that we cannot properly place in a certain cemetery.
- From death certificates, we have determined the time periods for the various names of the cemetery.
 - East End Cemetery: One in 1925, a couple in the 1940s, but mostly in the 1950s.
 - East Alamo Cemetery: One death certificate in 1949.
 - Hog Branch Cemetery: Mostly in the 1930s, but a few in 1940s, 1950s, and 1960s.
 - New Cemetery: This name was used most often. Mainly in the 1920s and 1930s, with a few prior to 1920 and a few in the 1940s and 1950s.
 - Walker Cemetery: A few are listed in the 1920s and 1930s, but most are in the 1960s and 1970s.
