APPERSON, Nancy M., b. March 3, 1846, d. December 14, 1889. Daughter of Davis Bates and Amanda Wren Whiddon. **2004 visit: Marker still there. 2007: Descendant provided the following: Cordelia Jobe Whiddon, was buried near Chappell Hill "beside a road" that only had one grave marker. It was remembered that Noah Whiddon and Amanda Whiddon were two of the names on a list made by Frank Whiddon's wife. NOBODY has found the original list. Frank was Noah Whiddon's youngest son. Amanda (Wrenn) was Noah's 2nd wife. He first married her sister, Nancy Wrenn. Nancy died before the Whiddons left Alabama and was buried in the (now gone, Wrenn cemetery. [Wrenn was the original spelling.] Nancy M. Apperson was the daughter of Davis Bates Wrenn/Wren and Sarah Janes Thomas Wrenn. Nancy was a first cousin of Amanda and Nancy Wren Whiddon. Since graves of an adult male and adult female were found next to Nancy Apperson's grave marker, descendant inscribed the stones with their names**. It was only reasonable that she would have been buried next to them.

Grave dousing determined the gender of other deceased so inscribed markers were placed on male or female graves. They may not be on the right graves - but they are on male and female graves. All the other graves found some 11 are marked "Male" and "Female.". A good distance away from the others, there is a cross made of pipe (a female grave) and next to that is a male and female. Does anyone have information on this site?
